

TERRY CALHOUN

DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

After spending over 20 years in the automotive battery industry, Terry has decided to follow a passion to design, develop and create. He just spent three months immersed in a Front-End Engineering course @theironyard in Durahm. During this time he spent over 80 hours per week learning and working with Javascript, jQuery, Angular JS, CSS, SASS and HTML5. He was required to use agile process management with GitHub and morning stand-ups. He desires to continue in sharpening his new skills as well as learning new technologies, languages and tools as they emerge.
